

Client-facing applications

The key to future-proofing your law firm

Imagine a law firm...

Where competitive, innovative, forward-thinking client-facing applications are being developed not by a slow-moving IT department, but in collaboration with legal professionals. Equipped with and empowered by innovative technology, this firm can build prototypes of digital solutions in days and launch enterprise-grade applications within weeks.

The key to innovation

A no-code low-code platform puts innovation power in the hands of those with the most in-depth knowledge and understanding of their clients' needs. Using a visual builder, legal professionals can use pre-built no-code building blocks to create digital solutions. At the same time, IT professionals can support and govern the process by using its low-code capabilities.

- ✓ Empower the business to create apps in an efficient way;
- ✓ Create branded applications for services tailored to clients' needs;
- ✓ Automate business processes and make repetitive tasks redundant.

The Betty Blocks platform allows for complete customization and personalized branding to create state-of-the-art applications. Enabling the creation of customer-facing apps and automation of legal processes at lightning speed.

Keeping up with an evolving market

Clients' digital expectations are at an all-time high. The market is demanding smart ways of working, efficient communication, and a seamless user experience. To keep up with the demand, law firms need to adopt innovative technology to create client-facing applications. The organizations that succeed will become beacons of attraction, that entice both clients and talented employees.

What you can build with Betty Blocks to future-proof your client relationship

Customer portals

Strengthen your client relationships and provide a secure and open forum for collaboration with a customer portal. Start from scratch or use one of Betty Blocks' pre-built templates to build an interface that gives customers the ability to interact with your firm.

App examples

Legal services request app

Standardize, simplify, and automate your legal service requests through a Legal Services Request Application.

Customer knowledge base

Elevate and optimize your customer experience, and support, by centralizing and digitizing your firm's expertise into a Customer Knowledge Center.

Dynamic questionnaires

Ask the right amount of questions, at the right time, for the right purpose with a dynamic questionnaire. Custom questionnaires allow your firm to gather valuable information in an efficient and secure way while giving clients the best user experience possible.

App examples

ESG Tool
